MEET DR. MARX

Andreas Marx is a Doctor of Oriental Medicine, a licensed Acupuncturist, and Naturopath. He studied in Germany where he trained under the leading authorities Dr. Reinhold Voll, Dr. Wolfgang Ludwig, and Bernard Muschlien, N.D. in EAV, acupuncture, homeopathy, herbal medicine, and other naturopathic disciplines.

Dr. Marx was invited to the United States in 1983 specifically to lecture and present workshops in these fields. His many years of practical experience includes drainage therapies, homotoxicology, homeopathy, dysbiosis, chelation, clinical ecology, dark field microscopy, and terrain assessment. He will share alternative approaches in the field of functional medicine which is needed more today than ever before.

EAV/EDS Training

Electro Dermal Screening (EAV/EDS) is based on measuring skin resistance at acupuncture points and originated in the 1950's in Germany. The number of practitioners using this method is growing worldwide.

Electro Dermal Screening is one of the finest non-invasive methods in Biological Medicine today to evaluate patients and tailor individual treatment protocols.

This Friday workshop is designed after the ones Dr. Marx has so successfully conducted over the years in Germany and America. Many practitioners attribute their above average clinical results to these hands-on, step-by step workshop series.

German Biological Therapy Protocols

In order to achieve optimum therapy results and minimum healing crisis, German doctors developed individual drainage protocols. This approach is most effective to detox "matrix" (connective tissue) to give way for healthy new cell growth in any organ system.

Specific drainage protocols will decrease side effects and minimize healing crisis during biological and allopathic treatments. This will prevent and limit the deposit of residual toxins into the connective tissue that later could lead to chronic conditions (Homotoxicology by Reckeweg).
